WHAT IS A REAL ESTATE CONSULTANT?

A real estate consultant provides expert advice and recommendations in accordance with the law to clients about the real estate industry. They are also referred to as "real estate counsellors" or "real estate advisors." Real estate consultants are also required to have a real estate licence.

Real estate consultants are considered "behind the scenes" experts as they perform extensive research in order to help guide clients' decision-making during every step. Rather than just focus on sales, their job is to ensure overall success for the client.

A real estate consultant either works for a large consulting firm or as an independent consultant.

CONSULTANCY SERVICES

Our consulting services focus on our clients' most critical issues and opportunities: compliance, risk management, process management, technology, government processes – including ex gratia applications, systems and procedures.

We bring a wealth of knowledge and experience, both as agents and trainers, the ability to go beyond normal limits, but are known for solving problems faster and smarter: we take stock of our resources on all property related matters in order to achieve the desired outcomes for our clients. We have proven effective with identifying and managing opportunities across the property agents' sector where others see only unmanageable risk.

Call now to book an appointment to explain your subject matter and the outcome you would like to achieve.

Please note: As consultants, our focus is to offer people information on compliance matters and help businesses or individuals navigate the legal and regulatory requirements, industry standards and community expectations of the real estate industry.

While we provide expert guidance on compliance matters to avoid litigation, it does not constitute legal advice and should not be relied upon as such. Specialist legal advice should be sought where required for particular matters. However, Industry Training Consultants can help you find a qualified lawyer who specialises in matters related to your dispute.
